

Paradise Kabemba

Information Technology Systems Software Student

An independent and self-motivated Information Technology student with web design, coding, UI/UX design and a bit of online marketing skills. I am a critical thinker that is always willing to learn something new whenever given the opportunity to do so. I have great communication and leadership skills. I prefer giving nothing but 100% especially if I am rewarded or see a clear vision for my goals. I have many strengths that I would like to implement on any work ethic I have been given and looking forward to learning to strengthen my weaknesses.
